BISHOP GALLOWAY'S ADDRESS

Before the Woman's Board of Missions Last Night.The handsome auditorium of West Market street church was well filled last night, the occasion being the anniversary exercises of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, now in session in this city.The exercises were opened with the singing hymn No. 525; a scripture lesson read by Dr. Crawford, the singing of hymn No. 398, then prayer by Rev. N. H. D. Wilson.The address of welcome by Mrs.
Robertson, of this city, was beautiful, and the reference to Mrs. F. M. Bumpass was tender and touching. Following Mrs. Robertson, Dr. Weaver, pastor of West Market Street Church, made a few appropriate remarks of welcome.Mrs. Malone, of Missouri, responded to the address of welcome on behalf of the board. It has seldom been the writer's pleasure to listen to such beautiful sentiments expressed so elo-quently. Mrs. Malone captured the audience.The president, Mrs. Wightman, then announced that it was a great pleasure to have Bishop Galloway present, and that the program had been changed on this account. She asked the Bishop for his best and did not limit him as to time.Bishop Galloway then ascended the pulpit and for forty-five minutes held the close attention of his hearers. He is a fluent talker, earnest, forceful and eloquent. He is an orator. He began with words of advice and encouragement to the noble women who composed the board of missions. He said he desired more especially to speak of the results of the mission work from the standpoint of a christian optimist in the mission field. He spoke of the many and wonderful changes in China, Japan, India, Brazil and other mission fields. He has visited all of these and his description of the great improvement heathen countries have made since the introduction of the Christian religion by our faithful missionaries was sufficient to remove all doubt from the question: Does it pay?

SENATE STILL HAGGLING.

No Vote Reached on the War Revenue Bill as Yet.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, June 4.—The discussion of the war revenue bill was resumed in the senate this morning. There being no amendment up Allison demanded a vote on the measure; Jones obstructed action by raising the point of no quorum. Before a vote could be taken Morgan introduced an amendment of which he had given notice yesterday requiring the secretary of the treasury to execute the income tax provisions of the law of 1894.This amendment the Senate rejected by the close vote of 38 to 35. Turner, democrat of Indiana, then offered an amendment imposing a tax of one fourth of one per cent on transportation companies doing business between any state and a foreign country. This was rejected by a vote of 38 to 34.

Gone Rabbit Hunting.

A gentleman at Proximity had fourteen tame rabbits which he wished to sell. Two young men called a few days ago and wanted to get some of them for some friends in Washington and said they would call in a few days to take them. Nor did they disap-point him. They "called" last night at a late hour and "took" all he had.
The gentleman is now hunting rabbits without dog or gun.

contributions to the fund. The fund now amounts to over $1200. No amounts are too small to be received and all contributions will be acknowledged. It is an object that should appeal to all North Carolinians.

signment of Mr. G. H. Royster, announced in these columns yesterday, the liabilities amount to $5,700, with assets about the same amount.

NEWS BOATS ORDERED AWAY

Sampson Prepared For Business
Yesterday Evening.

INSURGENTS MASSED FOR ACTION

Marietta Arrives—Spaniards to Dynamite the Merrimac—Nothing Official from Santiago.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Aboard despatch boat off Santiago, June 3, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 4.—At sunset this (Friday) evening Admiral Sampson signalled the torpedo boat Porter to run alongside the flagship. In a short time the Porter dashed back to the newspaper boats and excitedly megaphoned: "The Admiral directs you to move ten miles south and take your station for the night." This meant serious action for the fleet before morning. The details of the movement will probably come by the next despatch boat.

VICTORIES TO BURN.

New York, June 4.—A cablegram to the mail and express from Madrid states that the Merrimac was torpeded by the Spaniards. It also alleges that two of the American iron-clads, names unknown, were seriously damaged at Santiago yesterday. A brilliant Spanish victory is claimed.

HOLLAND BOAT TRIAL.

New York, June 4.—It is reported that naval officers will make a trial trip with the Holland submarine torpedo boat some time next week.The cruiser St. Paul, which arrived yesterday, is hastily coaling this morning and is supposed to be preparing to sail.

NO OFFICIAL NEWS.

Washington, June 4.—Nothing official has reached the war departments from Santiago. The accounts of the defeat at Monte Cristo of the Dominican revolutionists are positively denied.

WILL CLEAR THE CHANNEL.

Port-au-Prince, June 4.—Advices received from Santiago state that the Spaniards will dynamite the sunken collier Merrimac and clear the channel of the harbor in anticipation of the arrival of the Cadiz squadron under Admiral Camara.

MARIETTA ARRIVES.

Key West, June 4.—The gunboat Marietta arrived here this morning thus ending her 13000 mile voyage from San Francisco around Cape Horn. She parted company with the Oregon at Rio de Janeiro. All aboard are well and eager for a fight.

LAST CABLE CUT.

Friday, June 4.—The last strand of the cable from Santiago to Hayti was cut this afternoon.

SPANIARDS PRAISE SAMPSON.

Port au Prince, June 4.—A great number of insurgents are massed in the vicinity of Santiago awaiting some decisive action on the part of the American fleet. They will be signalled by the squadron when to make an attack on the town. The Spaniards pay a tribute to the audacity of the Americans in so cleverly attempting to blockade the channel. According to the Spaniards it would be folly on the part of the Americans to attempt to force the entrance to the harbor, which is long, narrow and thoroughly mined, seemingly forming an insurmountable barrier.

A Dangerous Bed.

A man named Payne, hailing from High Point, arrived in the city this morning and it was noticeable that he frequently consulted a pint bottle of "pecking red" which he carried in his inside pocket. Finally, he got sleepy and crawling under a box car near the southern depot went to sleep. Policeman Jeffreys found him in his perious position and invited him to accept a bed on the floor of the town lock-up.
His lodging will be charged up against him by Mayor Nelson.

Names of Members and Visitors.

A list of the members and visitors in the city attending the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions and their homes while in the city was left in this office last evening and was not called to the attention of the editors until late today—too late to be published.
We regret this, as we are anxious to publish all information pertaining to the meeting and its members and visitors.

SINKING OF THE MERRIMAC.

She Was a Collier Not a Cruiser as Reported.Port au Prince, Hayti, June 3, 9:45 p. m.—This morning at 8 o'clock the American squadron again began a bombardment of the fortifications of Santiago de Cuba, and a lively cannonade ensued for two hours, which silenced the Spanish batteries. An American vessel, the Merrimac, described in the advices from Santiago de Cuba as an auxiliary cruiser, making a dash to force the entrance, succeeded in passing the first line of defences, but was torpedoed about 500 feet up the channel.She went down "perpendicularly." An officer, an engineer and six seamen were taken prisoners. The number of victims is unknown. Only the funnel and mastsheads of the sunken vessel can be seen. There is great excitement in the city. A part of the population assisted in the fighting on the heights. Everybody is astounded at the audacity of the American vessel.
The American squadron was cruising all the while in the offing.

Hard Fare at Jacksonville.

A private in the Asheville company writing to the Citizen from Jacksonville says:Part of the time we have beef, bread and coffee, sometimes sugar to go in it. But things are getting fine here this morning. They gave all the boys new guns yesterday and for supper they gave us lightbread, beans and coffee, no sugar; for breakfast, light bread, canned tomatoes; part of the boys don't eat tomatoes and had to take bread and coffee without sugar.
They thought that new guns would fill our wants, but it did not work. The boys went out on a strike after the bread and coffee, and if they had stuck to S. M. Hemphill, W. C. Hunt and Oscar Burnette they would not have had to drill on bread and coffee. But some of the poor, hungry privates saw Capt.
Bookhart coming, and grabbed their guns and said "Come on, boys; if you don't you will have to lie in the guard house," and of course it was no use for them to buck against the crowd, so they all fell in line with Capt.
Bookhart in front and drilled us off to the field. Of course we did not drill much, for our guns don't produce much drilling.

A Lofly Company.

Capt. Cooper, of the Murphy company, is very proud of his men. He says: "I am the youngest captain the regiment, being only 20 years old, and I am 6 feet 3 1/2 inches high. All my men are 6-footers. I am to have 26 recruits and all of them will be tall men, certainly none under 6 feet. If I have a little time I will secure men 6 1/2 feet high. My mountain boys are improving fast and will make one of the very best companies in the regiment.

SANTIAGO MUST BE TAKEN

Unconfirmed Rumor That Schley
Is in Possession.

Merrimac Sunk to Blockade the Channel—Spain Not Ready to Treat For Peace Yet.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, June 4.—The administration no longer attempts to conceal the fact that the next move in prosecuting the war will be the immediate destruction of the fortifications of Santiago, the annihilation of the Spanish fleet and the capture of the city, as was foreshadowed in yesterday's despatches. Sampson and Schley have been instructed to co-operate with the insurgents. It has been positively known here by those close to the President and Secretary Long that Sampson was going to strike, probably on Thursday. McKinley not only expects the fighting to be forced henceforth but is also extremely hopeful that the capture of Santiago and Cervera's squadron will lead Spain to sue for peace shortly.

TO BLOCK CHANNEL.

New York, June 4.—A special to the Journal states that the object in sinking the collier Merrimac in the Santiago channel was to block the channel and prevent the escape of the Spanish squadron. It is uncertain whether she was sunk by her crew or by the Spaniards. There were no fatalities.

THE LOST SHIP.

Baltimore, June 4.—The Merrimac was purchased by the government from the Lone Star steamship company. The transfer was made in this city early in April. She was formerly the Norwegian steamer Solveig, and was nearly destroyed by fire at Newport News, in 1896. She was built at New Castle, England, in 1894, and was 339 feet long, 44 feet beam and had a net register of 2,193.The Merrimac left Norfolk, where she was fitted for government purposes, about a month ago.

TRANSPORTS SAIL.

Mobile, June 4.—Several transports crowded with troops sailed from here this morning under sealed orders.
When the expedition left the officers had no idea as to its destination.
Among the troops that went aboard were the Second cavalry and Third and Twelfth infantry of the regular army. The troops were all fully equipped.

THE ARMADA DESTROYED?

New York, June 4, 11 a. m.—A special to the Mail and Express from Cape Haytien says that Commodore Schley forced the channel of Santiago and destroyed the Spanish squadron on yesterday. The report has not been confirmed.

ABOUT PEACE RUMORS.

Madrid, June 4.—There is no confirmation of impending peace negotiations despite the statement of Senor Giron that Spain would not refuse an honorable settlement of the present conflict. It is generally understood here that the only condition of peace that would be acceptable to the present government would be a restoration of the ante bellum status. To this, of course, the United States would not accede and no common ground appears on which to treat.

Interior Bread For Soldiers.

The proper way to secure improvements along any line is to tell what is needed. A few days ago the fact was published that the quality of the bread at Camp Russell is poor. It is found that the flour is furnished the bakers by the government and it is very poor in quality. The First regiment got good flour, the best Pittsburgh being used. It is said that the common stuff now issued is charged to the bakers at the rate of $9.50 a barrel. The attention of Col. Burgwyn is called to this matter. That ought to be enough to secure an improvement. The troops must have good food and shall have it, if a ventilation of matters in the newspapers is made necessary.—Col.
Old's Correspondence.

Haytian Insurrection.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.
Cape Haytien, June 4.—It is rumored here that the Santo Domingo insurgents have captured the town of Santiago de los Caballeros on the Yaque river 100 miles from here.

GENERAL COWLES HURT:

Horse Fell on Him Breaking Both Bones of His Leg.At about 9:45 o'clock last night Adjutant General Andrew D. Cowles, who has been appointed and commissioned Lieutenant Colonel of Second North Carolina regiment, was riding on his recently purchased horse from Camp Russell to the city. On Hillsboro street in front of the residence of Mr. T. T.
Hay he met the street car going out towards the camp. The horse was rather spooked one and seemed frightened at the approach of the car. Gen. Cowles who is an expert rider, reigned the horse under control, as he thought, but just as he met the car the horse wheeled across the street car track and was struck by the car. The horse fell, and in falling, caught General Cowles' left leg under him and fractured the two bones of his leg just above the ankle.
The horse arose and was caught some distance down the street unhurt. When General Cowles attempted to arise it was found that he had sustained a painful injury. Mr. T. T. Hay and Dr. A. W. Goodwin, who live within a stones throw of the point where the accident occurred, and Mr. E. J.
Wicker, who was riding by on a bicycle, and other gentlemen were immediately at the side of the sufferer. He was put on the street car and brought to his room, at the Yarrowborough House, where the surgeons of the Second regiment, Drs. Brooks and Brevard, with Dr. Goodwin, set the wounded leg.—

SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1898.

You can get the telegraphic news twelve hours earlier in THE TELEGRAM than in any paper that gets into Greensboro, and for four dollars a year less.

It appears that our "coast defense monitors" were built to defend other people's coasts against other people.

Until war time is past the fishes of Buzzard's Bay will be able to take any bait that comes their way without suspicion of a hidden meaning.

If Spain would buy a few tramp steamers and send these Weary Willies of the deep wandering around she might be able to injure our navy.

Senator Quay has arranged for Pennsylvania to get along without the services of Mr. Wanamaker and he may now place them all at the disposal of his country.

If our naval commanders persist in leaning up against the turrets of our battleships while in action a series of promotions to fill lamented vacancies may be expected before the fighting is over.

It is said that the Philippine insurgents are coy about joining the Americans in fighting Spain. Evidently the Philippine islander is not an expert in the best methods of preserving pelts for future consumption.

Hawaii is undoubtedly most friendly to us but her determination to give our soldiers an old fashioned Hawaiian dinner when they arrive at Honolulu on their way to the Philippines is open to a false interpretation. She ought not to give our expedition even friendly indigestion.

They do say that a few squirming doubts have attacked the outlying lobes of the Hon. Hallelujah Ayer's brain; that he is not sure that the democrats are in the hole where he put 'em. This is a base slander. There ain't any doubt and there are no outlying lobes. They are all in the very centre of ferocious activity.

Here is a copy of a company bill of fare for yesterday, taken from a bulletin board at Camp Russell: Breakfast, mutton chops, beef liver and rice, coffee. Dinner, tomatoes, fresh pork, Irish potatoes and rice. Supper, sausage, rice, hot coffee. This company certainly likes rice.—Col. Olds correspondence.

When our boys get to Manila and the Chinese politely enquire "Have you eat rice?" the boys can respond with deep earnestness "We have."

Senor Castelar, former president of the Spanish republic, drew a parallel between the queen regent of Spain and Marie Antoinette that is rather sinister at this time. The elements of revolution are abundant in Spain and what we know of the Spanish character is not reassuring as regards those who may become a target for the blind passion of the mob. King Alfonso sits on a mighty wobbly throne and the Austrian cruisers waiting in Spanish ports for something to happen may come in handy before the year is out.

It is always instructive if not always pleasant to know how others see our affairs. Henry Norman, editor of the London Chronicle, a paper that has not been any too friendly to our interests, is now in Washington and in cabling his impressions to his paper he declares that Spain must lose Cuba and Porto Rico and adds:

"I fancy that nobody is more surprised at her inability or refusal to recognize the inevitable than President McKinley himself. If she procrastinates much longer she may bid farewell to the Philippines also, but this is the only respect in which an immediate cessation or the indefinite prolongation of the war will make any difference.

"The above is not a personal opinion. It is a series of facts well known to every informed person here. It is not only the truth but the whole truth and nothing will occur to alter it."

Evidently Mr. Norman entertains no illusions as to Spain being able to save her colonies when the time for peacemaking arrives.

SATURDAY'S LITERARY CHAT.

[All books and magazines mentioned below may be had at Wharton's book store.]

This is the season when the white (or to be more literal, shall we say yellow?) crest of the wave of "light literature" begins to break upon the deepening greens and languors of summer; when hammocks, shady nooks and linen crashes (now for the first time a badge of war) woo and win whom kindly circumstances doth permit the priceless boon of idle hours; the season when the image of kindly old Isaac Walton squatting on the cool brookside to ply his gentle craft seems to the tired worker in the stuffy town the true ideal of human content. Perhaps the tired worker is right.

The comic paper artist now proceeds to furnish up all the old, old jokes about the summer girl, sophisticated Uncle Silas who takes city boarders to feed on city butter, butter, the husband who stays in town and the wife who goes to the seaside—and we strive to give old friends a pleasant smile for the artist's sake, and for our own sakes or nerves as the case may be. Those who can afford to hunt cooler quarters do so, and vex themselves over the compromise of gaiety and expense, and those who can not afford to resort stay at home and read books and stories and gossip about those who can, written for the most part by writers who also cannot afford to resort.

Of course when we say people read we mean the people who read, for a large number who could if they would never indulge in that luxury and do not know the difference between a novel of Laura Jean Libbey's (the prima donna of sewing-maid literature) and the Koran. It is perfectly safe to talk about them, between ourselves, even if a little mean to talk about them behind their backs. You could blaspheme in a column headed "literary" until doomsday and they would canonize you as a saint when dead, and be none the wiser, if you take the trouble to tickle their prejudices once in a while elsewhere.

Plainly the war is dominating literature just now, even as it does conversation and the newspapers, and what does not bear a "wrinkled front" is at a discount. The variety and quantity of stuff that finds a ready consumption is something amazing. From scientific treatises on the art and conduct of war to pictures of ships, on a bottle-green sea, blazing away with prodigious waste of ocre and carmine at other ships ten yards distant, the field stretches. The prodigies of ocre and carmine seem to get the better of the treatises so far as popularity is concerned. There are tastes and tastes you know.

Most of the magazines make decided concessions to the demands of a militant public though some like the Century seem confident of a clientele so attached by taste to what is well done as to be trusted to look elsewhere for what is of temporary or factitious interest. Possibly they rely also upon the weariness of one topic only which leads to a search for variety even in war times. It must be said, however, of the former periodicals that they supply much useful and interesting matter, well written and, for the most part, well illustrated.

McClure's for June is a war number opening with a paper by General Lee on "Cuba Under Spanish Rule," of which it is needless to speak. James Barnes has five "Songs of the Ships of Steel" in which there are some good lines and some of such bathos as to provoke a smile. General Miles, in "Military Europe," gives impressions gained in his trip to the scene of Græco-Turkish hostilities. In "Stories of the Fighting Leaders" L. A. Coolidge supplies interesting biographical data. "An American in Manila" will increase what we know of the Philippines. There are stories and a "Hymn" which justifies its title by being poor poetry.

In the June Century W. D. Howells (who is afflicted with a conviction that all the world is after his autograph) discusses "Pictures of Don Quixote." The "Adventures of Francois" brings out a typical scene of the French revolution. "The Spanish Armada" has an introduction by Captain Mahan. The stories are excellent and various. "The Confederate Torpedo Service" is by R. O. Crowley who was chief electrician in that branch of service during the late if no longer, happily, the latest unpleasantness.

So Tired! So Tired!
Chronic Dyspepsia!

For ten years I had been a severe sufferer from chronic dyspepsia, which was pronounced incurable. I was completely run down, and in the summer season was not able to do anything and spent a great part of the time lying down. I could not touch meat of any kind, or any solid food whatever, as I could not digest it at all and had to live on crackers and light diet. I was very nervous, would have severe nervous spells, and could not get any natural sleep, I was so restless. I suffered all the time from chronic dysentery, which kept me weakened down. That was my condition when I determined as a last resort to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I had tried so many treatments and so many patent medicines without benefit that I had no faith in anything and had almost made up my mind not to try another thing, when Mrs. Person came to my house last April and induced me to try her Remedy. I bought a dozen bottles. Felt no relief whatever until I was on the fourth bottle, when I knew I was getting better. I became stronger, got so I could sleep well and there was no necessity for me to lie down in the day time. I took twenty-two bottles before I stopped. My digestion is now perfect, and I can eat meat, vegetables, and anything else I want, and as much as I want. I weighed 115 pounds, now I weigh 155 pounds. Dysentery perfectly cured, and it is all owing to Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. It is everything claimed for it.

AN ODE OF HORACE.
(Horace, Book I, Last Ode, "Persius odi.")
To feast in high state, Like a Persian, I hate.
Wreaths of linen I care not to braid.
Them cease, boy, to look Through each leafy nook
For the summer's last rose ere it fade.

The myrtle alone
Has a charm all its own.
I forbid thee aught else to entwine.
It is fittest for thee,
It is sweetest for me,
While I quaff 'neath the close arching vine.
—J. R. in Spectator.

INSIDE THE THEATER.
Customs at the German Plays Unlike Those of American Audiences

The audiences that gather at the German theater in Irving place are unlike those seen at any other playhouse in town. During the recent engagement of Agnes Sorma there, the audiences were exceptionally large and offered a striking illustration of the difference between them and the gatherings in the theaters devoted to English plays. The quiet of the spectators is the first noticeable difference. Nobody speaks even quietly to his neighbor without leaning over so closely to him that the sound could not possibly disturb anybody else. Even then the whisperer is likely to be reminded by a rebuke from in front or behind. The slightest noise interrupts the course of the orchestra enjoyment and that is something which will not be tolerated by the serious playgoers of the German theater. The only talking they propose to hear is that of the actors on the stage. Applause very rarely comes until the close of the act.
Then, if the performance be worthy, the acknowledgment is unrestrainedly cordial. Laughter at the funny points of a farce is never repressed. That indulgence is unrestrained. In comic opera the applause is quite as common as it is at the other theaters, and the audience like encores quite as much as those who hear them in English.

It is in the quiet moments of a serious play, however, especially when the scene leads to an exciting climax, that the mood of the audience is most characteristic. Then from the orchestra seats to the crowded gallery the spectators are intensely absorbed in every movement and every word of the actors.
When the climax has come and this tension is released, it can be immediately felt, although there is no applause or any audible outbreak. The feeling runs through the house and the emotions are relaxed. But the customary relief is not expressed as it usually is in other theaters by applause. That must wait until the curtain falls.

Like all German theaters the world over, the Irving Place is dreadfully overheated. Fresh air is all very well when one sits im freien, but indoors everything must be appropriately stuffy and hot. So the German theater in New York frequently becomes distressingly warm. But the regular audiences do not appear to object to it. Many of the men leave the theater between the acts and smoke in the lobby, more, possibly, than would usually be found in an American audience. Some of the women occasionally retire to the lobby, but the number of those who follow the example of the men is small. Possibly if the theater had a foyer as large as those in Europe the audience would retire just as those in Germany do. But that custom has never become popular here, and there is the added attraction of an orchestra to keep the audience seated between the acts. Very few of the continental theaters have orchestras.

The cloakroom system exists to a greater extent in the German theater than it does at any other place excepting the Metropolitan. Cloaks and hats are deposited at the garderobe with regularity, and the men as well as the women are patrons of this branch of the theater. The rule about hats is a qualified one. The management asks only that those hats which interfere with the view of persons behind shall be removed. Others are not forbidden. Few are worn, however, and it is interesting to see the size of those that are retained.
They may not be triumphs of millinery, but they show that women sometimes think of other things than beauty or fashion when they get a hat—that they think, in fact, of the persons who may sit in the row behind them at the theater.—New York Sun.

Latinized English.
There was a period in the history of English literature, says Professor Mark H. Liddell in The Atlantic, when the ideal of a perfect sentence was one in which English thought was so run into a classic mold as to make the English reader stand on his head to see the meaning of it. That was because the obvious fact in most Latin sentences was a periodic structure. It was an easy road to beautiful expression to assume this perfection for English sentences and make them conform to it.
Men shut their eyes to a multiplicity of form in English writing which they did not understand and chose out of a foreign tongue a single form which they did. In the same way a false type of beauty has often been set up in high places where men should look for a real one.

The Grandest Remedy
Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chil-howie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr.
King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds and consumption. It doesn't fail. Trial

Music for the Volunteers.
The band of the First regiment, district of Columbia, passed through on the vestibule this morning going to Tampa. Despite the early hour several of the musicians were tooting away dutifully when the train pulled in here.
There were about twenty-five of them and the district boys should not lack for martial strains.

The Horrors of Nervousness.
Those who are going through the indescribable terrors of this dreadful disease, require no description of the agonies they constantly suffer.
But why suffer? Good blood gives good nerves; and

Johnston's Sarsaparilla gives good blood. It is a nerve strengthening and restorer, the efficacy of which cannot be over-estimated; when it is learned that its absolute freedom from poisonous drugs or opiates, makes it safe for use in the hands of sick or inexperienced persons, there is an increased appreciation of it. JOHN-STON'S SARSAPARILLA is a specific for impoverished or imperfect nerves; it feeds the nervous system to high health, provides for physical and brain endurance, cheerfulness, happiness and energy.

Our thirty-six page illustrated book contains some interesting pages on Nerve Exhaustion. It is free for the asking. Quart bottle, $1.00.

resort, be sure to write to the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City, N. C., as this elegant resort is making special reduced rates for the month of June.

One of the handsomest signs ever put up in Greensboro was that erected in front of the jewelry store of W. B.
Farrar's Son this morning. The work was done by Mr. Geo. Ledford, and shows him to be a finished workman.

Abate the Nuisances.

There are a couple of nuisances of which the Telegram has spoken before that are inexcusable. One is the rapid driving of wagons through South Elm street and the other is the crowd of idle negroes who loaf in front of the postoffice defiling the sidewalks until they are impassable without goloshes.
The board has very properly passed an ordinance compelling bicyclists to carry lamps at night as a measure of safety, yet negro drivers race through the street crowded with light vehicles and ladies and gentlemen on their wheels who are required to dodge as best they can. Beside that the nerves of every man and woman on the street are racked with the noise. The cob-ble stones of South Elm are not adapted to racing purposes where two horse wagons are the racers. As regards the loafers, if the stone curbing around the post office was put there for their special benefit they should be required to eschew, not chew, tobacco. The attention of the authorities is respectfully called to these matters.

Peach Shipment Begun.

The shipment of peaches from the Southern Pines orchards has begun.
Mr. J. Van Lindley was in the city today and remarked to a Telegram man that he has a splendid crop at Southern Pines and that the shipping season is just opening. The shipment of black and dew berries has been on some time and Mr. Lindley says prices are good. He received checks today for his first sales and is well pleased with the result.

Baseball.

Greensboro had a walk over yesterday defeating Proximity by a score of 30 to 9. There will be a game of ball Monday between first team and the juniors. Game called at 3:30. All players please report at the park on time.

fect satisfaction or money refunded.

LET'S KEEP ON PULLING.

And Establish Some or All of the Following Enterprises.

Greensboro's advantages as a railroad center and distributing point are well known and are being recognized.
Encouraging progress has been made during the past year; but greater things are ahead of us and must yet be achieved. We must keep on pulling, united on one idea—the material development and upbuilding of our city. Little things, a large number of them, do more toward building a city, than one or two large concerns. Therefore, the smaller enterprises should not be overlooked. We desire to mention just here that there is a good opening for such enterprises as the following, and while they may be started on a small scale it is possible for them to eventually become large enterprises:

A steam tannery.
A soap factory.
A chair factory.
A shoe factory.
A bucket factory.
A chewing gum factory.
Smoking tobacco and cigar factories.
More furniture factories.

And these are not all. With the distributing facilities Greensboro has, and with the proper management all of these and many others can find a splendid field for operations here.

There is already a complete outfit here for the manufacture of chewing gum, and the owner also has a registered trade mark of a very popular brand of gum.
We will furnish information to any one with a little capital who desires to engage in the business.
